ABOUT ME

I'm currently working as a Pod Leader of a team made up of jr/sr developers and designers in DUDE Agency, the world's #1 accelerator for digital agencies. I manage, assign and monitor web projects.

I consider myself with the necessary skills to work both as part of a team and to lead it. I like to be an effective element in any way needed, ready to lend a hand, eager to continue learning, growing and problem-solving. I find it easy to handle multiple projects throughout the day and can prioritize as needed. I give importance to the details that can make a difference that's why I enjoy doing a proper QA process of the projects I work on, always considering the needs of the client and delivery times.

My professional goal is to deepen my knowledge in the UX field :)
